All Just a Little Bit of History Repeating

Issue 2.14 November 26, 2007

As a special treat, and because of the slow news month, we are reprinting a cover from The NMC Avatar, an alternative publication that once graced the garbage bins of Northern in the 1970s and 80s. The actual writing is crap, but the raw, youthful exuberance reflected in the Avatar's nine year, biweekly run was inspiring. The Avatar is only one historical example of Northern's alternative press; others include The Goosestep Review (c. 2001), What Up Northern! (c.1996), The Hi-line Conformist (c.1954), Hippie Menace (c.1966), Tarantula Menace (c.1973), and of course The Northern Montana Satirical Periodical (c. 1933). Until next week dear readers, the frequency is courage!
